BUSINESS MEN

Of Cleveland will pay Wheeling a Visit this Week.

A SPECIAL TRAIN IS COMING

TO-MORROW EVENING OVER THE CLEVELAND, LORAIN & WHEELING ROAD, AND THE VISITORS WILL BE SHOWN
WHEELING AS SHE IS COMMER-CIALLY AND INDUSTRIALLY
THE FOLLOWING MORNING—IT IS A CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
JAUNT.

Cleveland is an enterprising city. Each successive year shows how she is pressing Cincinnati in the race for commercial supremacy in the great state of Ohio. Her growth is due in no inconsiderable measure to the Cleveland chamber of commerce, an organization that is noted all over the country for its wide-awake policy and aggressiveness.

Wheeling is to be favored with a visit from a numerous delegation of Clevelanders, business men and members of the chamber of commerce, to-morrow and Thursday. Each year the Cleveland organization makes a jaunt through some part of the extensive territory in which the Forest City has trade relations, and this year's includes Wheeling in its itinerary.

A special train of several Pullman sleepers and a dining car will arrive at Bridgeport to-morrow evening at 5:40 o'clock, coming via the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railroad. The train will be transferred to Wheeling via the Terminal line, and the visitors will spend the night in the sleepers.

They are to be met at Bridgeport by a committee, representing the Wheeling chamber of commerce, which will be appointed by President Quarrier and Secretary Hazlett, who were informed of the coming of the Clevelanders by Traveling Passenger Agent Russell Wood, of the Cleveland road.

The programme for their entertainment had not been arranged last night, but it is probable there will be something of interest on the card for Wednesday evening, and the following morning the visitors will be shown what an important place Wheeling is, commercially and industrially. There will be from 100 to 200 in the party.

From Wheeling the visitors take the Ohio River road, leaving this city at 10:30 o'clock, Thursday morning, and will go to Parkersburg, Marietta, Zanesville and other towns in Ohio.

WEST VIRGINIA DAY

At the Nashville Centennial—Commissioner Stalnaker Confirms the Intelligence's Reports.

Major Ran Stalnaker, president of the West Virginia commission to the Tennessee Centennial, whose efforts in working up interest in West Virginia Day at the exposition, were so successful, in speaking yesterday of the treatment accorded the visitors from this state by the centennial authorities last week, remarked that the occasion was one of the most successful, from any standpoint, of any of the state celebrations held since the opening day.

"This statement," said Major Stalnaker, "I do not make on my own knowledge, for, of course, I have not witnessed the exercises on all of the state occasions, but I repeat what I heard on every hand at Nashville. Our hosts were unanimous and enthusiastic in their expressions of pleasure at the splendid turnout of West Virginians, and it would be impossible to exaggerate a description of the splendid treatment that was accorded us. No state delegation has been the recipient of greater attention than ours was. The newspaper accounts could not convey an idea of the enjoyment of the day. West Virginia's representatives were made to feel that for that day, at least, they owned everything in sight, and the Tennesseans acted as if they were sorry they couldn't do even more for us. Those who failed to go to Nashville missed a great deal."

TRAIN A MILE LONG.

The Pennsylvania has been making some experiments with long and heavy trains. Friday evening a train of one hundred and eighteen cars, fifty-three loaded and sixty-five empty, all drawn by one engine, was hauled through Bucyrus, Ohio, eastward. Later the same engine hauled a train of one hundred cars over the same line westward. The object in hauling the long trains is purely experimental and is for testing the capacity of the heaviest engines on the Pennsylvania system. A helping engine followed close behind the long train and assisted in going up heavy grades. It is thought that some of the grades just east of Bucyrus will be reduced soon, so that a single engine will carry one hundred and eighteen cars without assistance. The long trains were nearly a mile in length, and show the powerful capacity of the Pennsylvania's heaviest engine.

ABOUT PEOPLE

Strangers in the City and Wheeling Folks Abroad.

Charles E. Bailey, of Sistersville, is at the McLure.

Miss Annie Bero, of La Belle street, who has been ill, is improving.

Attorney-General Rucker is in the city on legal business for the state, arriving here yesterday.

Deputy United States Marshal T. J. Thomas, of Mannington, was a business visitor in the city yesterday.

Miss Norma Scott, of Moundsville, returned home yesterday, after spending Saturday and Sunday with Miss Mattie and Jessie Graham, of the Island.

Mr. O. R. Ramey, the well known southwest oil producer, moves his family from Wheeling to Sistersville to-day. This move was made imperative on account of the necessity for Mr. Ramey's presence in the field. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ramey and their family will regret to learn of their departure.

THEATRICAL PEOPLE

Held a Seance in a Justice Shop—The Advance Agent Came out on top.

Squire Fitzpatrick's court room was the stage yesterday afternoon upon which warring theatrical people spoke their lines, to the great interest of the crowd of spectators. The defendant was G. D. Farnum, advance agent of the Creighton Comedy Co. He and his wife were arrested yesterday by the police at the instance of Walter Creighton, proprietor of the show. Creighton alleges that Farnum had obtained $11, under false pretenses, running up a board bill at the Stamm and other incidentals, and charging the same to the company, after he had been discharged. Farnum at the hearing yesterday produced receipts showing that he had paid his bills with his own money. It developed that the allegations were partly the result of spite work, but Creighton was surprised to see the receipts produced by the man he thought was "doing" him. He was more surprised at finding he had to pay the costs.

After the case was dismissed, Farnum, his wife and Creighton left the court room together, and on better terms than they had entered it. The company showed at Martin's Ferry last night, coming thence from Mannington.

WASHINGTON YOUTHS

Raise Cain—Five were Arrested but Twelve Got Away.

A crowd of Washington, Pa., tin mill workers came to Wheeling yesterday with the evident intention of taking the town. After getting outside of considerable liquid fireworks, they selected the East End for their scene of action. What they did in the way of disturbing peace and serenity was a plenty.

Lieutenant Clemans and Officer Holmes swooped down on them at the corner of Wood and Seventeenth streets. They got five in their clutches, but the other twelve got away. The five will answer to the following names in this morning's court: Sam and James Stahl, Jack Baldwin, Jim Miller and Thomas Barnes.

West Virginia Mayors.

As Clarksburg is probably the most central city in the state, the meeting of West Virginia mayors next month is likely to be held there. It is said that the mayors of Wheeling, Parkersburg, Huntington, Charleston, Keyser, Weston, Buckhannon and this city look favorably on the holding of a meeting and the attendance of the mayors of many other towns is expected. As Mayor Butts presides in the police court of the largest city of the state and is elected for the longest term, he has been suggested as president, while Mayor Keck seems to have the call for secretary.—Morgantown Monongallian.

WASN'T TURNED DOWN.

The statement that the board of commissioners had turned down or tabled all recommendations as to locks at the jail is not true. These recommendations were made to the committee on court house and jail by the committee appointed by the court to examine the battle.

Uncommon
Clothes

At common prices is the rule in our store. Cloth, tailoring, trimmings, fit, style—all better than the ordinary.

If you habitually wear ready-made clothes, you will appreciate the difference in the quality between those bearing this label and what you have been wearing. If,

on the other hand, you have had your clothes made to measure, you will appreciate the excellence of Stein-Bloch Clothes and marvel at the smallness of their cost. You will be glad to dispense with the worry of complicated measurements, a multitude of "try-ons," indifferently good style at double or more our price.

We delight to show these Suits or Overcoats to "finicky," hard-to-please-and-fit men; besides, money back if you want it, without fuss or argument.

Are not made by chance, nor can they ever in any material be made at small expense.
